“ This is a story my Dad loved to tell: my Dad and Allen loved their adventures while at "The Cabin". They ran-up-and down the "South River" day and night hunting and fishing and causing all sorts of trouble. They loved to "frog-gig"; they could've been pros if there were such a thing. But they didn't gig 'em; they caught them! They would comeback with a sackful of the biggest bull frogs that you could imagine.

One night, they went way-up a slew. They were in a typical, wooden, flat-bottom Jon Boat. They were after those frogs. They came to a real shallow portion and were pushing their way through with poles. They came to a low hanging tree limb and pushed through that. Suddenly, a big snake dropped from that limb and landed right in the boat. Nothing to fear with Allen on the trigger. He grabbed the shotgun and killed that snake! Unfortunately, he also shot a hole in the boat! I am certain the trip back was difficult; but the laughing must've made it more difficult. I can still hear my Dad laughing as he told that story; I can still see Allen smile when he heard it yet again.

“ Many great memories of Uncle Allen....one of the first is him putting me on the back of his motorcycle and flying down Gilbert street from Granddaddy's. I was 6 or 7 years old. Scared Mama and Daddy to pieces. I LOVED IT !!! Love and comfort to all the families. R.I.P. sweet uncle.
